INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF MAYOR CHARLES W. BICKFORD.

Gentlemen of the City Council :

We have become the choice of our fellow citizens to administer the affairs and public interest of our city for the ensuing year, and upon assuming our respective offices here today, and having taken upon ourselves a solemn oath to perform to the best of our ability the duties and obligations pertaining to these honorable places, we at this time begin our year's work. We are not here for individual pleasure or profit, but to conduct the municipal affairs of our city on business principles, so that economy, honesty and wise progression shall contribute to continued development and prosperity. To that end must we devote our time and studies, however inconvenient it may be to ourselves. No man who is placed in a position of trust and responsibility does his full duty unless he appreciates the confidence reposed in him by his fellow citizens. We are the custodians of the people's welfare and their finances, and to them we are directly answerable, and for them should we exert our every effort to perform our whole duty, and fulfill that which is expected of us.

In short, gentlemen, I shall advocate business methods for this business enterprise we have been chosen to manage, and this means nothing but the full performance of our sworn duties, that no reflection can be cast upon us at the close of the year.

Our financial condition is of the utmost importance, and is as follows :

Liabilities Jan. 1, 1904.
Outstanding notes,	$124,715 44
Outstanding sewer bonds,	84,200 00
Bills approved, not paid,	655 15

HIGHWAYS AND SIDEWALKS.

Better country roads are the demand of the times, if we keep pace with other cities and towns in the state. Highway improvements are fast spreading all over the country, and we must wake up to the fact, something must be done of a permanent character, for it benefits every inhabitant of our city and greatly adds to its attraction as a place to reside. It seems to me we should have some definite plan formulated as to permanent improvements, and do something each year. Several years ago a portion of Eastern avenue, leading to East Rochester, was crowned and a surface of crushed stone placed upon it and well rolled, with gratifying results, and I would like to see the balance of the avenue treated in the same manner. Our main traveled roads should receive careful attention, particularly those connecting with cities below us and leading through our city to Farmington, Milton and the White Mountains. Good roads benefit the farmer, the rural mail route carrier, in fact a direct benefit to all regardless of locality. Let us then meet all our neighbors at least half way and not have it said we are behind in the matter of improving our highways. I fully realize, gentlemen, we have the most exacting department to handle and give satisfaction in our whole city, and it is the most expensive in the whole state in proportion to the taxable property, as it has three distinct and separate villages to maintain and more miles of country roads leading to and through these villages than any other city of its assessed value in the state; so it stands us in hand to use every dollar of our appropriation to the very best advantage. Another pair of horses should be purchased, as we have too much work for the two pair, besides we should get better results by alternating their work, so one pair would be in or near the stable in case of fire, that our citizens and merchants may have better protection, and furthermore, I believe it to be the proper function of a city to make collections of ashes and household waste in the thickly settled or fire precinct, and those horses could be used for that purpose, at very little expense to the city and the convenience and importance of the arrangement would be very great and a step in the right direction, and our citizens and the visiting public would appreciate it. Nothing is more attractive than well kept roads, and we ought to have in our city well kept highways and attractive streets.

WATER WORKS AND DEEP SEWER.

Both these departments are under one committee and ably managed. The past season the outlet pipe in Round pond has been extended 250 feet, out to deep water in the pond, at an expense of over $2,000, and expert opinion is that we shall have good water. I think it should have a fair trial and then, if not satisfactory, would recommend putting in a filter, as the people demand good water for their use.

POLICE.

No department is of greater importance than the police department. Much of the reputation and good name of our city depends upon its police force. The life of a police officer is one of hardship and everything is expected of him. The duties of the city marshal and assistants are very clearly defined in the city ordinance and police regulations, and if they are faithfully carried out there is nothing I can say or do to be of any benefit at this time, and respectfully refer you to the detailed account of this department in the city marshal's report.

HEALTH.

The health and sanitary conditions of our city are a source of satisfaction and much credit is due our efficient board of health for this pleasing state of affairs. I feel our city physician is underpaid for services called upon to perform and should receive some compensation as overseer of the poor. For further details and reports of the department I will refer you to their report.

PARKS AND COMMON

are a disgrace to our city and should receive our immediate attention. Woodman square and the small square opposite Odd Fellows' block should have curbing put around them, trees and shrubs set out, and it should be our aim to improve and beautify them in all practical ways. And I hope you can see your way clear to grant a small appropriation for the same. The common should have some definite plan or layout made of it, walks made and graded and trees, shrubs and flowers properly located, so we can start needed improvements at an early date.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The efficiency of this department is so well known that it is unnecessary for me to speak of it at any length. The necessity of a new fire station is apparent to all and the building and its location should receive your earliest attention.

SCHOOLS.

It is very gratifying to learn from no less a person than State Superintendent of Public Schools Channing Folsom that our schools stand second to none in the state. Let us then continue to keep them up to that high standard, although it is expensive, taking more than one-fourth of our annual appropriation to support them, yet it is our indisputable duty which we owe to the rising generation. Our school buildings are all in good condition with the exception of the School street building. Here they need more room and better sanitary arrangements. It might be feasible to move the building from Upham street lot to the School street lot, as it is a much larger building and would give them the extra room required, and if placed at proper elevation above grade would give them proper sanitary connection, while the present one is deficient in that respect. The reports of the board of education and superintendent of schools you will find interesting reading.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Through the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie who has offered to donate $17,500 to build a public library building, upon condition we provide a site and appropriate annually $1,750 for its maintenance, meets the approbation of all our citizens, and I think this offer demands our immediate attention, and I would therefore recommend that steps be taken at an early date to assign a lot and comply with the requirements of the offer.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I have only called your attention to such matters as seem of the utmost importance at the present time, without making any specific recommendations as to location of public library and fire station, as the city has three good available lots. It is a matter for your careful consideration to decide as to location of each, and I think you are fully competent, and will do your whole duty, and I promise you my hearty support and co-operation, that we may so conduct the business interests of the city as to merit and receive the approval of all our citizens. There are other subjects of minor importance that I might mention at this time, but will forbear to do so now, but will take them up with you in the future as occasion requires.

This is to certify that I have examined all the accounts of the City of Rochester in the several departments for the year 1903 and they are correctly cast and properly vouched and the foregoing financial statement I believe to be a correct statement Jan. 1, 1904.

O. A. HOYT,

Auditor.

ROCHESTER, Feb'y. 10, 1904.

NOTE—The above statement does not include the Adams and Old Cemetery Funds nor Dog Depredations account.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF WATER WORKS

For the Year Ending December 31st, 1903.

To the Water Board and City Council of the City of Rochester :

GENTLEMEN :—I herewith submit my twelfth annual report.

Number new services put in during the year,	10
old " relaid "	32
" to date,	1,306
feet $\frac{3}{4}$ inch service pipe laid during the year,	1,775
1 " "	510

16 " "	250
" to date,	133,721
or 25 miles, 1,721 feet.
gates put in during the year, 6 inch,	1
" " 16 inch,	2
repaired "	6
hydrants put in "	1
Total number hydrants put in to date,	169
Number hydrants repaired during the year,	5
leaks repaired in main pipe during the year,	8
meters put in during the year,	7
meters in use,	39

I would recommend the installation of one hundred meters the coming season. I believe this the only way to stop the wholesale waste which is going on both summer and winter.

A new gate house has been built at Round pond and the intake carried two hundred and fifty feet out into the pond. This job was engineered by the late J. A. Farrington of Portsmouth, N. H., at a cost of about two thousand dollars.

I hope and expect that the quality of the water supplied from this pond will be greatly improved.

All of which I submit as my twelfth annual report of this department.

L. P. PICKERING,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SEWERS

For the Year Ending December 31st, 1903.

Number sewer connections put in during the year,	32
Total number sewer connections put in to date,	794
Number feet main pipe laid during the year, 12-in.	274
“ “ to date,	865 73
or 16 miles, 2,093 feet.

The sewers have all been flushed twice during the year and I believe are all in first-class condition.

I would recommend that the East Rochester system be completed the coming season in accordance with the plans already adopted by the City Council.

Respectfully submitted,

L. P. PICKERING,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT.

To the Mayor and City Council of the City of Rochester :

I herewith submit my fifth annual report of Fire Department for year ending Dec. 31st, 1903 :

Whole number of fires 19. 17 in the city proper. 1 at Chestnut hills. 1 at East Rochester. I have responded to 8 still alarms. We have purchased 2 Boston play pipes.

The amount of property involved in fires for 1903 is as follows :

Valuation of buildings $69,400. Insurance $49,095. Loss paid $3,746.55. Value of contents $27,700. Insurance upon $17,150. Loss paid $611.31. Taking the large amount of property involved and so small loss by fire I consider it a grand showing of the efficiency of our Fire Department.

I would again recommend the purchase of a chemical engine, also the building of a central fire station, and the addition of four fire alarm boxes.

Thanking the board of engineers, also the officers and members of the department, for their ready and willing response to all alarms and good judgment in discharge of their duties, I herewith close my report.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE H. WEBSTER,

Chief Engineer.

ROCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 31, 1903.

Instructions to Citizens.

1. Upon the discovery of a fire, notice should be immediately communicated to the nearest alarm box, the keys to which are in the hands of all the regular police, and in boxes near each alarm box.

2. Upon the discovery of a fire, or positive information of a fire, break the glass in the key box, unlock the box, pull down the hook once as far as it will go (without jerking), and then let go. Shut the door, but do not try to remove the key, as it is locked in a trap lock and can only be removed by a release key, which is carried by each engineer, who will, as soon as convenient, release and return it.

3. All persons giving fire alarms are requested to remain by the box a moment, and if no clicking is heard in the box, pull again; and if you still hear no clicking go to the nearest box, procure a key, and give an alarm from that.

4. Never pull an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.

Never touch a box except to give an alarm of fire.

Give an alarm for no cause other than actual fire.

Don't give an alarm for a chimney fire.

5. Owners and occupants of buildings are requested to inform themselves of the location of alarm boxes near their property. Be sure the alarm is promptly and properly given.

Signals.

Two strokes of the bell is the all-out signal.

Six strokes of the bell is for a brush fire, or a fire at a distance, where the fire department will be needed.

One stroke of the bell is the engineer's test.

The above signals are given only by the chief engineer.

CITY SOLICITOR'S REPORT.

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Rochester :

GENTLEMEN :—The claim of E. Judson Locke for personal injuries sustained on the highway between Rochester and Gonic has been abandoned. This was a claim based upon a contention that the city maintained a ditch or sluiceway across the highway. There was such a ditch dug by the management of the electric road to let the water off from their track. The Supreme court since the time of the accident have held in another similar case that such a temporary ditch or sluiceway does not constitute a defect in the highway such as the town would be liable for within the meaning of the statute.

The time for appeal in the highway damage case of Dominicus Hanson has gone by and I understand Mr. Hanson intends to take the award made by the city council.

At the end of the second year we find no cases pending either for or against the city in any court. There are also no claims or demands in the hands of the committee on legal affairs.

The advent of the license law has changed the work in the police court, but there is just as much of it, if not more. What to do with those arrested for drunkenness is a great problem. Most of them are too poor to pay a fine and a good many of them had just as lief go to jail or House of Correction as not. If we send them to either place the city has to pay their board and there is nothing for them to do to earn anything for the city or themselves. The court must exercise wise discretion in each case. This would be all changed if we had a workhouse connected with the jail. The board would be paid by the prisoner rather than the city. He would earn enough to pay his fine and help support his family. A great many more would be sent to the House of Correction for intoxication or other misdemeanors than there are now. What shall be done with the tramps? They put up with our lockup in the winter but not in the summer. Go with our City Marshal in the morning and see from six to twelve able-bodied men let out, strangers roaming over the county, not seeking work but avoiding it.

I am a thorough believer in ex-Concouncilman Rollins' woodpile. Give the prisoner the chance of going to jail for six months or sawing wood for a week and he may saw wood. Arrangements could be made with some of the local wood dealers so as to accomplish the desired results. In order to protect the wives and families, a public guardian in each county ought to be appointed to rightly care for and spend the money earned by those who cannot or will not use their earnings for the benefit of themselves or their families.

I wish to express my appreciation of the good-will and courtesies shown me by all connected with the city government.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL D. FELKER,

City Solicitor.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES

OF THE

Rochester Public Library,

1903.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Rochester Public Library, January 4th, 1904, it was voted that the Report of the Secretary, Librarian and Treasurer be presented to the City Council as the Annual Report of the Trustees for the year 1903.

REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES.

To the Honorable Council of the City of Rochester :

GENTLEMEN :—I have the honor of presenting herewith the tenth annual report of the trustees, librarian and treasurer for the year ending December 31st, 1903.

It is gratifying to look back over the records of the past ten years and note the marvellous growth of our public library. In 1894, the circulation was 21,936; in 1903, 30,098. The attendance in the reading room in 1894 was 1,788; in 1903, 6,126. These figures and the accompanying tables prepared by the librarian in her report to the trustees indicate that the public believe in the institution and, like the public school, it commands the support of all citizens who are interested in the moral and intellectual growth of our city.

The chief benefits of a public library arise from its character as a great store house of information, where in our day and days to come, scholars, inventors, teachers, leaders of thought in every field, may delve. The inventor, seeking patents to save the world time and toil; the teachers filling their minds that they may train good citizens; the scholars endeavoring not only that there shall be more books but that the new books shall be sound in quality and that old books shall not be forgotten.

The usefulness of our public library is demonstrated as it reaches all classes of our citizens; the rich man, who can afford to buy expensive books, and the common citizen, who can say with truth that the public library is the poor man's university.

The opportunity to read is coming more and more within the reach of the masses. To bring about equality of opportunity in this matter is the specific work of the public library. But in order to do this we must have the means to work with. The library and reading room have reached the limit, and unless new quarters are provided the growth and usefulness of the library will be a failure.

The trustees have endeavored to give the public the best service possible and it is gratifying to know that no complaints have been made during the year.

The trustees have been able to keep within the appropriation and it is their purpose in the future as in the past to manage the affairs of the public library in an economical manner. The trustees express their appreciation of the efforts of the librarian in her attention to the wants of the students and patrons of the library, also the faithfulness of her assistants.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN YOUNG,

Secretary.

To the Board of Trustees of the Rochester Public Library:

GENTLEMEN:—I present, herewith, the report of the library for the year 1903, together with a brief resumé of its growth during the ten years of its existence.

Number of volumes in library at last report,	8,703
Purchased during year,	571
Added by binding,	37
Of gifts,	133
Of volumes discarded or lost,	15
Entire number in library at date,	9,395

Gonic,	26
East Rochester,	43
Central library,	204
Entire number,	273
Number of people holding library cards,	4,094

Number of books given out during 1893 :

Gonic,	1,427
East Rochester,	1,045
Central library,	27,926
Entire circulation,	30,398
Largest number given out any one day,	327
Smallest number,	49
Number of books issued to teachers for school work during 1903,	543
Increase over last year,	224
Number of weekly and monthly periodicals given out,	1,064
Attendance in reading room,	6,126
Largest number of readers any one day,	63
Number of books repaired during year, (taking from 5 minutes to 2 hours each)	1,543
Amount received from fines,	$106 13

On January 22, 1894, the library opened its doors to the public and the first books were given out. It contained at the time 3,058 volumes, of this number, 2,429 had been given by the stockholders of the Social library. Since then, 100 volumes have been worn out or lost and 6,437 have been added either by purchase, binding, or by gift, making the entire number of volumes at the present time 9,395.

The foundations of the library were well laid, the growth has been slow but sure. Growth does not mean merely the adding of books. It may also be clad in garments beautiful to look upon, be furnished with everything to delight the eye and still be far from accomplishing the purpose for which it was created. This object in its entirety is to be all things to all men, whether it be for use or pleasure.

During the first year, that the library was open, 21,936 volumes were given out and the second year 20,871. Since then the circulation has steadily increased until the present year, when the entire number was 30,098, 2,559 less than last year. This decrease may be attributed to several causes. The lessening demand for fiction and the increasing demand for books for study and those which take a longer time to read have each had its effect on the circulation. Then owing to the limited supply of information on certain subjects it has been necessary to reserve such books as would be most helpful, for a time at least. This necessarily increases the reading room attendance, while the circulation decreases, as no record is kept of books read in the room.

The number of readers for the first year was 1,788, while during 1903 the number was 6,126. Figures can by no means give an adequate idea of the use made of the room by students or of the queries which must be met by those in charge. These must remain a part of the unwritten history of the library.

A good word should be said of the efficiency of those in charge of the stations. Their work has been faithfully carried on and every demand from the central library has met with a quick response.

The failures of the ten years have been numerous, but they must be felt to be appreciated. The attempt to satisfy the demand of the many for the few popular books is still one of the unsolved problems.

The ideals of ten years ago have been in some measure realized. To many of its patrons, on its opening day, the library meant merely a place from which to get something to read and fortunate was the man who got a book to his liking. Today it means the place to get the desired information. Tomorrow it must contain the best thing on every possible subject, the brightest and most readable books and must be the very best place in which to read or study.

I wish to thank the Trustees for their kindness and encouragement, also all others who have helped to make the library attractive and useful.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN E. PARSHLEY,

Librarian.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the Honorable School Board of the City of Rochester :

GENTLEMEN :—For the fourth time it becomes my privilege and duty to report to you and through you to the public on the condition of the school system of your city.

In General.

I think it can be said truthfully that the school system was never better than at present. I am certain that during my administration the conditions for good work have never before equalled those of the present time. Never before have we been so well equipped with buildings, furniture, supplies, and well trained and competent teachers. As a result the children are getting a better, broader, more rational training. The general conception of education has changed radically within the last decade. The idea that education is information getting merely or principally is now no longer accepted by the best thinkers along educational lines. It is believed that the development of the child calls for something more than the memorizing of facts and formulas. It has been my aim constantly to find and use a philosophy of education based on sound psychological and pedagogical principles. Whether I have succeeded or failed must be decided if at all by the opinions of disinterested persons who have inspected our schools and who are competent to judge. There are always to be found in every community devoted worshippers of the past, assiduous conservators of tradition, ever faithful to the belief that the old contains all possible good and that anything savoring of the new, the thing foreign to their experience, is of necessity a fad and wholly inferior to the old. But I believe that the ordinary man of affairs, even though conservative, does appreciate the modern methods in vogue not only in our own schools but in all good systems, especially when the scientific principles underlying all the work have been pointed out to him. Anyone can visit any school anywhere and discover faults more or less serious, but the charitable person will recall that this is true of all things in this life. Well meaning persons sometimes visit the school and, seeing some work foreign to their experience as a pupil or teacher but not perceiving the scientific principles underlying that particular work, they lament the fads and frills of modern education. The teacher or superintendent could explain its importance and show that it is not simply something to kill time and amuse the child but a school exercise, having great pedagogical value, though not in vogue fifty years ago or recognized even, except by the most progressive thinkers. We only ask such people to give us a chance to show the reasons for our work. What somebody else has done or has not done in the past should be no criterion of what we should do in the present. We are trying to educate our children to live lives of usefulness and happiness in the near future, in an age of progress; we are not educating for the past or even for the present, for as we are now speaking the present has become the past and what was the future is even now the present. In fifty years the world has made great progress especially in America. Social and economic questions have entirely changed. The problem of the common school is to fit the boys and girls to become useful members of society. It is manifest that changed conditions require a corresponding change in method of treatment. The new things in education have been planned to meet this demand. In law, in medicine, in engineering, in trades, in manufactures, what strides have been made in recent years! What inventions, what discoveries have been made vastly modifying existing conditions! What excursions have been made into the realms of science in Physics and Chemistry! Surely truth has been sought and found in many directions. Is it not reasonable to suppose, then, that careful study and experimentation in school work has caused some advance in several years? It seems to me unfair that the discovery of some student of science shall be readily and willingly accepted and adapted to everyday life, while the best thought of educational philosophers is totally disregarded or tabooed because the experiences of some individual have not coincided with that thought. Very seldom do we find one to question the authority and expert knowledge of his physician; while on the other hand it is the common thing for one to feel competent to discuss, on equal terms with the teacher who has been trained to a better knowledge of the makeup of the pupil and his needs, the excellence or the worthlessness of this or that method of procedure. We can never have the best schools until the community is willing to acknowledge the professionalism of teaching as it recognizes the professionalism of law or medicine, or, at least, the artizan skill of the watchmaker or carpenter or plumber. The time has been when it was thought that almost anybody could teach school, and, I am sorry to say, that idea still exists in the minds of a few. The policy of your board, however, has always been to get for the children the best possible service that your salaries could procure. Merit alone has been the criterion by which teachers have been selected. To this state of affairs more than to any other one thing is due what excellence your schools possess. Good equipment and trained teachers are essential to a well arranged school system. We have improved the equipment from year to year as the limited finances allowed; and as vacancies have occurred in the teaching force we have aimed to secure teachers well grounded in scholarship and professional training. The general high merit of our teachers has brought about the high standing which our schools have gained. A city whose teaching force is so carefully watched need have no fear of its future citizenship.

Enrollment and Attendance.

The attendance for the school year ending August 1, 1903, fell off considerably from the figures of the previous year. I cannot explain satisfactorily to myself the cause of this. There were several reasons, however, why the attendance figures should be smaller. In the first place, greater care was exercised by the superintendent to secure a correct unrepeated registration of the pupils; in the second place, the schools were much interrupted by the prevalence of contagious diseases, especially at East Rochester and Gonic where the schools were closed for periods of two and four weeks respectively. Fear of scarlet fever, diphtheria and smallpox kept out of the schools for months large numbers of pupils. In my report of last year I stated that the reports for the year to come (1903) must make a poor showing. The number of school children is not growing less, however, as the reports for the term of school just passed show. Tardiness has diminished fourteen and six-tenths per cent. There is still need for further diminishing.

Buildings and Repairs.

With one exception, the school buildings in the villages are in good condition for use. The School street building ought soon to be replaced by a better and larger one. I believe that this section of the city needs a two-room building at least. The old high school building is at a considerable distance from the farther end of Portland street, and third grade children ought not to be obliged to go so far to school, especially since the third and fourth grades at the old high school building are too large even without the addition of the children from the School street school. It would cost no more to employ a teacher there than at the other building and the children would be better accommodated.

At Maple street school we have been taxed to our utmost to accommodate the children who appeared for admission. The distance of this school from the old high school building seems to put out of the question the transference of any of the grades.

And yet the capacity of the building places a limit upon the number of children we can accommodate. The experience of the past two years points to the probability that the spring term will bring to us a sufficient number of children to require two teachers and two rooms for first grade children, leaving for all other grades only the one large room upstairs. I see no other thing to be done but to divide this room into two, as has been done down-stairs. Then, whether we shall have any room for the fourth grade is a matter of doubt. During the summer this building has been fitted with a new steam heating plant, which has worked satisfactorily, even in the coldest weather. Last year we lost several sessions because of the inadequate heat supplied by the old furnace system.

A new and larger boiler and new piping has been installed in the old high school building. This plant has proved fully equal to all emergencies and not a session of school has been lost on account of insufficient heat. The ventilating system in this building is inadequate and some means should be provided for proper ventilation. The rooms are so large and high that, I believe, the windows with proper screening could be made to provide a very acceptable and safe method of ventilation. With the opening of the new school year and possibly at the opening of the spring term another teacher will be a necessity in this building. This means that the large hall now unused will have to be partitioned off into school rooms. I cannot see how more than two rooms can be made of this large room on account of light, yet the floor area is enough for four rooms.

The East Rochester building ought to be painted and the roof repaired, if possible, so that the rooms below will not be drenched every time we have a heavy rain. In such a case as this we shall save money in the end by spending it now. We cannot afford to put off necessary repairs, even if to make them necessitates exceeding our appropriation.

I have called your attention to several repairs and changes which have cost and will cost several hundred dollars, but when all these changes have been made the item of repairs ought to be small for several years thereafter.

Evening School.

The evening school was open in 1903 fifteen weeks and, I believe, was appreciated by the attendants. Its value has been proved in the interest manifested and in the ability gained by the pupils to read, write and cipher a little. A large proportion of the students are of a class of people who would get the schooling in no other way, that is they are adults. The others are largely those whose schooling has been neglected sadly but who were obliged to go to work at fourteen though barely able to read and write enough to clear the law. The attendance at the opening of the school in November was about eighty; about forty-five were constant in attendance throughout the term. Three teachers were employed and found none too many. The great diversity of attainment of the pupils renders the classification extremely difficult and necessitates small divisions that the maximum result may be attained. I believe in the evening school. It is comparatively inexpensive and serves a useful purpose. So far we have been unable to teach more than the three R's, but the scope might be enlarged easily and advantageously, whenever the city is willing to pay for the same. The evening school may be made just as broad as the community pleases. Its benefits are educational manifestly, are moral in taking boys and girls off the streets, inspirational in arousing incentives higher than the everyday life and opening up the world to the pupil through his ability to read and reflect; and, if the community wishes to go so far, the evening school may directly minister to the earning capacity of the individual by teaching commercial and technical branches, manual training and the rudiments of trades. It will not be time for Rochester to introduce these latter into her evening schools until manual training shall have been made a part of her day schools. But I do think that we can afford to enlarge the scope of the evening school somewhat in the near future.

High School.

The high school is growing fast. With the outgoing of the present senior class which is small in numbers and the entrance of another class which will doubtless be one of average size, the membership of the school ought to be about 170. In this case it would seem that another high school teacher will be a necessity. This increased patronage of the high school ought to be received with great satisfaction by the community, inasmuch as it betokens a broader dissemination of scholarship and usefulness among the rising generation. Social and industrial conditions cannot fail to be improved by this larger education of the community. Any influence that will tend to keep the boys and girls in school until they have got all the education that the city affords them is an important factor in the city's future prosperity. The high school ought to offer, then, to the children such a program of studies as will appeal to them to stay in school. In the past the high school program of studies has been arranged almost solely to fit for college. The wants of the great majority have been sacrificed to the needs of the few. We have been putting all our effort into fitting for the learned professions, so called, and have not considered the necessity of those who could not go beyond the high school or whose talents did not lead them to professional life. The best educational thought of today is demanding that the proper importance be given to the needs of the poor boy and girl, and the high school is becoming what it should become, the poor boy's college and training school. The high school ought not to fail to fit for college, but on the other hand it is much more important that it should fit the far greater majority of pupils for life in the community. Book-keeping and commercial law and typewriting can be made just as productive of mentality as Greek, and the former are much more valuable to nine out of ten students. Schools are not so much for the teaching of facts as for the mental training and the discovery of the means of finding out what we want to know when the time to know it comes. Now if this development can be obtained through such studies as will be immediately useful in a practical way we have gained two things instead of the one. I firmly believe that a commercial course should be provided in our high school. I refer you to the principal's report on this matter. The entire program of studies for the high school should be revised, I think. When made, a few years ago, it was a good one, well adapted to the conditions then existing, but college requirements and the changed needs of the school, together with popular demand and the trend of modern thought, seem to me to make it advisable to rearrange the entire program. I would recommend that a committee be appointed to consider this matter at an early date.

Report of Principal of High School.

Mr. Ernest L. Silver, Superintendent of Schools :

DEAR SIR:—In compliance with your request I submit herewith the annual report of the high school for 1903.

The enrollment on Dec. 18 was 152, and the membership by classes was as follows :

	1903	1902
I year (entering class)	60	75
II year,	48	34
III year,	26	19
IV year,	18	19
	<hr/> 152	<hr/> 147

By courses :

Classical course,	8	9
Latin-English course,	70	104
English course,	74	34
	<hr/> 152	<hr/> 147

It will be seen from the above that the membership of the school is somewhat larger than it was in December of last year. It will be seen also that the present graduating class is a small one and that the membership of the school during the coming year will take another leap forward. A careful estimate of the membership in 1904 places it at 170. This shows the absolute necessity of at least one addition to the force of teachers.

The reasons for this increase are not far to seek and are gratifying to all friends of education. First and foremost we are feeling the impetus given by an intelligent public interest which is manifesting itself almost uniformly throughout the country, and which more and more clearly realizes that education is a vital function. Local reasons may be found in the increased opportunities offered by the new high school building and by the increased intelligence shown by the pupils themselves in matters educational. Fewer and fewer each year enter the high school with no fixed aim or merely to find out how they like it before deciding about the future. More and more each year come with a definite aim and pursue it consistently.

This brings us to a consideration of whether the school is keeping pace with this interest in the nature and breadth of the opportunities that it offers. I think it is not. Take for instance the course of study which is now in use. In its day it was good. But since its adoption the school has increased by more than a half, and has moved from an ancient and overcrowded building into a modern and commodious one. During that time colleges have changed their requirements until they may now be entered by a dozen doors where they formerly opened but one. Since the adoption of the present course of study, too, the whole theory of secondary education has changed. The high school has become, as one writer aptly expresses it, the college of the people. I would like at this point to introduce a few facts which will show how far we are in Rochester from realizing this definition: One teacher is now spending fifteen hours a week teaching three classes in Greek. These classes number one, three and four pupils respectively, or a total of eight. Meantime there have been fifteen young people of this city attending a neighboring business school at considerable expense and several others have been attending at a distance and at great expense. Many more would doubtless like to pursue the same course and cannot. All this should be viewed in the light of the fact that any pupil may now begin Greek after entering college.

No time should be lost in arranging a new course. It is unnecessary to say that it should contain a business course; and a manual training course would not place us noticeably in the van. It should be somewhat more liberal in the number of electives offered and should recognize a difference between the boy who is preparing for college and the boy who is not. The strain put upon the latter by the former is too great. It should also be accompanied by an authorized set of rules that would tend to relieve the principal of the great burden of maintaining, single handed, a standard of attainment.

In the matter of attendance and punctuality conditions have been reasonably good. In the main the pupils have come to regard unnecessary tardiness as a thing to be regretted. Very few who live within a convenient distance of the school are repeatedly guilty of the offense.

The teaching force is fortunate in having suffered but one loss during the past year. Mr. Burt resigned in September to accept a similar position in Hingham, Mass. He was succeeded by Mr. Charles J. Ross of Lincolnville, Maine. Mr. Ross brings a wide experience to the position and has the confidence of all. In years of experience the teachers of the school are now older than at any time in four years, and as in all else it is experience that counts.

Music and drawing have progressed commendably and we are fortunate in having the continued services of Mr. French and of Miss Bunker in those departments. I am becoming more and more convinced that drawing in the high school should be made optional and should be continued for two years. It is impossible for one teacher to instruct properly thirty or forty pupils at once. With two years of optional work we should be able, in a few years, to produce specimens of work that would serve as an incentive to interest upon the part of all, and that would lend an increased dignity to this much undervalued portion of the curriculum.

The New England College Entrance Certificate Board has placed the High School upon its list of approved schools for three years. At the end of three years the approval expires by limitation, and will be renewed only upon condition that the school maintains its present standard. With the approval of this Board students may enter any college in New England except Harvard, Yale, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Without the approval of this Board students will not be received by any of the included colleges unless they shall have passed the examinations set by the Board. It may be seen from this of how great importance it is that the school shall not be found wanting when the three years have passed. In this work of fitting for college eternal vigilance alone will prove the price of victory. The impossible should not be attempted and a high grade of attainment should be set for those who expect to enter college or take examinations.

In closing I desire to thank the school board for many acts of generosity and kindness, the teachers for their cordial coöperation, and you, sir, for the broad and helpful interest you have always displayed in all that pertains to the welfare of this school.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK G. GETCHELL.

Teachers.

Before the opening of the fall term of school nearly one-half of our teaching force left us by reason of resignation or otherwise. Most of the vacancies were due to the fact that the teachers secured better positions elsewhere. Several superintendents visited our school last spring and, taking advantage of our low salaries, enticed away some of our best teachers. There is little satisfaction in priding ourselves on our good schools when our best teachers are being spirited away by larger salaries, especially since our salaries are very low. I do not believe that Rochester can afford to train teachers for other places. I have shown in another place that Rochester stands at the foot of the list when it comes to school expense and next to the bottom in the matter of teachers' salaries. It seems to me that good judgment dictates that we pay our teachers more. In the long run we get what we pay for. The farmer is not to be found who expects to buy a sixty dollar cow for forty dollars, yet many intelligent citizens support the theory that a three hundred dollar teacher is just as good as a five hundred dollar one. The question of the relative value of returns is not considered. A teacher is always a teacher.

The success of a school depends upon the teacher. A poor teacher means a poor school. Low salaries mean poor teachers. The best teachers are being drawn away to better positions constantly, while the weaker ones remain. Such a condition must result in a downward plunge of the system. For as the good teachers go, new ones must be obtained, and only the poorer ones of the new lot stay long; and so the sorting process continues until there are few teachers left whom anyone outside wants. Then, too, when a vacancy does occur, we are not permitted to compete in the market on equal terms with other places of our size, because our salaries are so much inferior to theirs. Thus it can be readily seen that when getting a new lot of teachers, other things being equal, we get the second choice or worse. Our only opportunity seems then to be to secure fresh graduates of normal schools, who will do good work for a year or two and then leave for larger salaries.

Our women teachers get a salary of $7.11 for each week in the year. Count out of this four or five dollars a week for board and room, something more for washing, educational papers, expenses at institutes, interest on four or five hundred dollars expended in normal school training, to say nothing of payments on the principal, dress (and teachers must dress well, as they are expected to move in good society and set a good example) and pray tell me how much will be left for the summer school and the vacation which a teacher so much needs? The teacher's life is not one of ease and short hours. She is not idle during the hours from four to six in the afternoon and her evenings are usually spent in study or preparation of the next day's work. Her work is wearing and full of petty trials and discouragements. Her salary should be sufficient for her to seek diversion in lectures, excursions, and many other ways, and enough so that she will not be obliged to figure where the next dollar must be spent. It is not an uncommon thing for a teacher to feel compelled to eke out her earnings for the year by waiting on table or canvassing during the summer vacation. She ought not to feel obliged to do this. Just in proportion as a teacher has to wait on table to get a living, is she a waiter instead of a teacher.

So arduous is the teacher's life and so poorly are teachers paid that good teachers are becoming very scarce. This has proved especially true during the past two years. The profession does not get the best talent, either. The capable young men and women are not slow in discovering that they can get better pay as bookkeepers or stenographers than as teachers; the preparation demanded is far less in amount and costs less. This is a serious condition of affairs that threatens the welfare of the schools all over the country. Can we afford to have our boys and girls moulded for their life careers by any but the best and ablest talent in the community?

Not only do I believe that salaries ought to be raised, but also that they should be graded. Under our present system we employ a teacher at a certain salary and she has at once reached the limit financially. She has no inducement to stay with us another year or to exert herself to merit the increase of the second or third year. Under a graded system the teacher would have something to strive for financially and would have a sort of satisfaction in a feeling of growth. Under such a system we should be able to compete a little better with some of the places which have robbed us in the past. Then, too, we could offer better inducements to teachers whom we might be seeking to fill vacancies.

The teachers of Rochester today are loyal, faithful and competent. They are doing their best to merit the support and appreciation of the public. I shall be greatly pleased and the public will be well served if they can be retained with us by means of higher, graded salaries. One need only to refer to the tables on pages 14 and 15 to learn of the competency of our teachers in preparation at least. It will be noticed that only two of our teachers have not had special training in normal school or college. Of those two, one has taken several courses in summer schools and has held for some years a permanent state teachers' certificate gained after a thorough examination. Compare, if you will, the table above referred to and one issued a few years ago, and it must be admitted that our teaching force is constantly improving.

Cost of Schools.

The expense for 1903 exceeds that of 1902 by $154.96 only. But the cost is larger than it otherwise would have been, on account of the increased cost of books, supplies for the school-room, fuel and repairs. In a previous report I have discussed the need of modern texts. We are still using many books out of date and much inferior to the books published today; but there is a great improvement over what was a few years ago. Each year I have tried to bring in a little fresh material in the line of supplementary books for teachers and pupils. In another year our schools should be pretty well supplied with necessary texts. Good things cost something; good books cost more than poor ones. Drawing supplies and music do not come without expense. Material for primary work along modern lines does cost somewhat more than the unsanitary and noisy slate and pencil. Nevertheless I believe that the representative citizen of Rochester wants his child to be provided with these better things. We have not lavishly provided teachers with all they asked for and needed sometimes, because we counted the cost in our limited finances; but we have tried to provide such essentials as would secure the best returns from the teacher's skill. It would be folly, indeed, to deny the workman proper tools and expect a good product. The cost of school supplies has advanced within the year, but I have called for bids from reliable supply houses and so have bought at bottom prices. The fact that I bought in considerable quantity in the fall added somewhat to the total cost of supplies for the year. I need not explain the heavy cost of fuel. Most of us can count the cost in our own experience. The item of repairs is a considerable one. The reason for the higher cost of schools per pupil during the past year is not due to an increased cost of maintenance of the school system, that is a mere trifle ($154.96), but rather to the low attendance and membership record due to causes beyond the control of the school officers. The cost of the school machine was not lessened by the poor showing. While the total cost remained the same the fewer pupils made the cost per pupil larger.

Lest anyone should suspect the Rochester schools are expensive, I wish to quote from the latest report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction the cost of educating a pupil in a few of the cities about us. Please notice the relative cost in Rochester when compared with our sister cities.

Milford,	$29.07
Portsmouth,	28.45
Concord,	27.82
Manchester,	27.30
Nashua,	26.10
Keene,	22.74
Berlin,	21.66
Laconia,	20.60
Dover,	19.16
Somersworth,	19.10
Rochester,	17.33

Many towns which do not support high schools expend more money per pupil than does Rochester, and of course, many towns expend less per pupil. It is to be expected that the larger towns and cities want better things for their children and get them only by paying for them. In the light of what this table shows, may we not justly demand to know whether we are doing justice to our children? Are we giving them something inferior to what is being given in other cities of approximately our size? Is our equipment too meagre? Are our teachers too cheap and poorly prepared? Now I believe, in fact, I know that our equipment is not greatly inferior to that ordinarily found in New Hampshire and our teachers are as good as the average, to say the least. What shall we believe, then, unless it be that the teachers are underpaid? Let us refer again to the latest report of the state superintendent. The average wages per month paid teachers below the high school in 1902 were as follows:

Manchester,	$52.28
Concord,	45.71
Nashua,	45.22
Dover,	44.41
Portsmouth,	43.95
Laconia,	41.56
Milford,	40.28
Somersworth,	40.00
Berlin,	39.03
Rochester,	38.28
Keene,	32.33

In regard to Keene it is interesting to note that not one of the teachers is a graduate of either a normal or training school. Further it should be noted that Keene still maintains a town school district and a special school district. Within the special district the teachers are receiving considerably more than $32.33 per month. The very low salaries paid in the several rural districts are responsible for the low average salary.

These figures speak for themselves. They are authoritative and may be verified by anyone who cares to take the trouble to look up the facts. Does not justice and sound business sense demand better salaries for our teachers?

Music.

Mr. Arthur E. French, supervisor of music, has proved a valuable man for the place. He has thoroughly systematized the course in music and has achieved good results. Last May under Mr. French's instruction, the high school chorus, assisted by local soloists, gave a very creditable rendering of "The Building of the Ship" in Hayes' opera house. The work of the chorus was heartily applauded by the small audience present. I append Mr. French's report.

Report of Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

DEAR SIR:—In contemplating the results of the year's work in music there is occasion for both congratulations and regrets; congratulations on account of successes, and regrets that these successes have not been more complete and unqualified.

Our aims have been three-fold:

First:—To foster and stimulate in the minds of the pupils a love for music, a desire to excel in it, and to investigate its mysteries.

Second:—To preserve the child's voice from the harmful effects of forcing, and to train the ear to rule the voice intelligently.

Third:—To make the utmost progress in learning to read consistent with the limited time allowed for the study of music.

As to the first object of our aim, I believe we have been reasonably successful. In my report last year reference was made to "two or three classes" where difficulty was experienced in getting a hearty response to the efforts of the teacher. Happily, these are now working with a zeal equal to the best. And while gains have been secured in these instances, there are no losses to report.

In reference to the second object of our aim, it would probably be just to say that our success has been good in many instances; fair in some; and, in a few classes, entirely wanting. Success in this field depends almost entirely on the ideals of the teacher, and insistence until the ideal is attained.

Successful ear-training is a slow process, and the quality of the voice can never be superior to the demands of the ear. Moreover, the taste of the pupil in these matters will not be above the requirements of the teacher. Hence, the absolute necessity for the exercise of the most patient, persistent, painstaking effort on the part of the teachers. It would be unjust, however, to measure success by what might appear on the surface to a casual observer. That which would be but poor progress in one class might rightly be gratifying results in another.

Referring to the third object of our aim : As much is being accomplished as can reasonably be expected. And yet, doubtless the longer a carefully graded system is followed, and new problems are approached and solved in logical and sequential order, the more ground it will be practicable to cover in a given time.

In the high school the spirit is good. With their achievements last year the people of Rochester are already acquainted. The pupils are ambitious, and can be relied upon to respond to any reasonable demand.

In closing, I desire to express, to the teachers and scholars, the superintendent, and the parents as well, for the cheerful willingness to endeavor, the unfailing and sympathetic support and the many kind expressions of confidence and appreciation which have rendered my work so delightful, my sincere thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

A. E. FRENCH.

Drawing.

Miss Bunker has continued her work in drawing and the good results of her labors are manifest to teachers and superintendent. The cover of this report was designed by a pupil of the seventh grade. The appropriateness of the design will be appreciated by those who have heard Rochester called "Norway Plains."

Miss Bunker's report is herewith given :

Report of Supervisor of Drawing.

Mr. Ernest L. Silver, Superintendent of Schools:

DEAR SIR:—It is pleasant to record in this my second annual report of the drawing in the public schools, that the children have shown an active interest in their drawing exercises with few exceptions and have been ready and willing to do their very best. It is also pleasant to record the marked interest by all the teachers to carry out the plans and wishes expressed at the annual meeting with the teachers in September.

For this endeavor on their part I wish to thank them. This interest by them has brought forth earnest work from the pupils, and the results have been very satisfactory. The pupils have a clearer idea of art principles expressed in beauty and order as well as actual proof of the saying: “The only real understanding is in doing.” For no matter how simple the exercise it may be one of refinement and expression of beauty.

During last winter, and again in June the drawings of the children were placed on exhibition at the High school building that parents and all interested friends might see the work arranged progressively from year to year. While some availed themselves of this opportunity, there were many who did not.

It is probable that an exhibition will be held at the same place in June of this year, and we hope it will call forth the interest of all citizens to encourage the efforts of the children in their endeavors to express their thought of the subjects given them.

I wish it might have been recorded that the citizens had been treated to one or two good lectures on “Art in the Public Schools.”

Also, that school room decoration had received some attention by the placing of a few good pictures and casts in the several schools.

The school rooms give many children their highest ideals of beauty and order, and “if the best is to be gotten out of the child, the best must be given him. If he is to have taste, he must live amid tasteful surroundings."

Let us then as teachers, parents, school board and tax payers feel that "the end justifies the means," and deem it not a waste of money to make their school buildings places to be proud of, and in which their children may be inspired by culture and refinement to become in a larger degree better men and women, with high ideals resulting in practical, good citizenship.

Respectfully submitted,

EVA E. BUNKER.

Needs of the Schools.

It occurs to me that it may be well before concluding this report to put in concise form some of the needs of your schools as I see them. I will mention four most important ones.

1. Higher salaries for teachers.
2. Fewer scholars per teacher. No living person can teach forty-five or fifty children, especially young children. The law of diminishing returns applies when thirty is reached.
3. The decoration of school rooms. The school must supply the lack of aesthetic culture in many homes. An old Prussian proverb says that what we want the nation to do and to be must first be taught in the schools.
4. A constructive interest on the part of the public in what the schools are trying to accomplish. Hearsay and speculation are not proper bases for criticism of the public schools. Suggestions based on personal knowledge are always valuable.

Conclusion.

I should be ungrateful and lacking in courtesy did I not take this opportunity to express to the school board my sincerest thanks for their uniform courtesies to me and their evidences of confidence in my honesty of purpose and my earnest efforts to place Rochester schools in the front rank. More cordial feeling of respect and admiration for a school board could not exist than that I feel toward you, gentlemen, for the business-like, and progressive, yet always just, way in which you have managed the affairs of the school system. I could make no better wish for the welfare of the children of Rochester, your trust, than to wish that always so fearless, honest and capable a school board may be found to guard their interests.

I should likewise take this opportunity of expressing publicly my keen appreciation of my loyal friends among teachers, pupils and the people.

Class Ode.

As ships within some sheltered bay,
Are built by true and skillful hands,
That they, to far-off foreign lands,
May bear their burdens safe away,
So we, the class of nineteen-three,
Have spent four happy high-school years,
Preparing well for our careers,
When we would sail forth on life's sea.

And now the time has come at last,
When we from out our port afar—
Far out beyond the harbor-bar—
Must sail; for childhood's days are past.
But fear does not bedim the sky;
We do not dread to spread the sail;
With joyful hearts the breeze we hail,
And high in hopes we prophesy.

The morning sun of youth is fair;
What though dark storms must soon be met?
We would not look upon them yet;
And then, we're in our Father's care.
So trusting Him, our Heavenly Guide,
How can we fear the tempest high,
Or dangerous rocks that hidden lie,
Or furious wind, or seething tide?

Farewell to you, O school days bright;
Farewell, O teachers, fond and true;
O school-mates, dear, farewell to you,
For Life calls us from you this night.

No School Signal.

Two blasts on the fire alarm repeated once will be the signal for no school.

When sounded at 8 A. M., there will be no school in the forenoon. When sounded at 12.45 there will be no afternoon session. The signal sounded at 11.30 will prolong the morning session of primary schools one half hour and of grammar schools and high school one hour, at the end of which the schools will be dismissed for the day.

Employment and School Attendance Laws.

CHAPTER 93, PUBLIC STATUTES.

SEC. 10. No child under the age of twelve years shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment. No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment, nor in any mechanical, mercantile, or other employment, during the time in which the public schools are in session in the district in which he resides.

SEC. 11. No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment, or in any mechanical, mercantile, or other employment, during the time in which the public schools are in session in the district in which he resides, without first presenting a statement of his age from his parent or guardian sworn to before the superintendent of schools, or if there is no superintendent of schools, before some person authorized by the school board of the district in which such child is employed.

And no child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed as aforesaid during the time in which the public schools are in session in the district in which he resides without first presenting a certificate from the superintendent of schools, or, if there is no superintendent of schools, some person authorized by the school board, that such child can read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language. And any superintendent of schools, or person authorized by the school board, who certifies falsely as to matters prescribed by this section, shall be fined not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

SEC. 12. No minor shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment, or in any mechanical, mercantile or other employment, who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language, while a free public evening school is maintained in the district in which he resides unless he is a regular attendant at such evening school or at a day school; provided, that upon presentation by such minor of a certificate signed by a regular practicing physician, and satisfactory to the superintendent of schools, or, where there is no superintendent of schools, the school board, showing that the physical condition of such minor would render such attendance in addition to daily labor prejudicial to his health, said superintendent of schools or school board shall issue a permit authorizing the employment of such minor for such period as said superintendent of schools or school board may determine. Said superintendent of schools or school board or teachers acting under authority thereof, may excuse any absence from such evening school arising from justifiable cause. Any parent, guardian, or custodian who permits to be employed any minor under his control in violation of the provisions of this section shall forfeit not more than twenty dollars for the use of the evening school of such town or city.

SEC. 13. If any owner, agent, superintendent or overseer of a manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment or any other person shall employ any child in violation of the provisions of either of the three preceding sections, he shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars for each offence, for the use of the district.

SEC. 14. Every person having the custody and control of a child between the ages of eight and fourteen years, or of a child under the age of sixteen years, who cannot read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language, re-residing in a school district in which a public school is annually taught, shall cause such child to attend the public school all the time such school is in session, unless the child shall be excused by the school board of the district because his physical or mental condition is such as to prevent his attendance at school for the period required, or because he was instructed in the English language in a private school approved by the school board for a number of weeks equal to that in which the public school was in session in the common English branches or, having acquired those branches, in other more advanced studies. Any person who does not comply with the requirements of this section shall be fined ten dollars for the first offense and twenty dollars for every subsequent offence for the use of the district.

SEC. 15. The state superintendent of public instruction shall have authority to enforce the laws relating to attendance at school and the employment of minors, and, for this purpose, he and any deputy appointed by him shall be vested with the powers given by law to truant officers when authorized by school boards to enforce the laws relating to attendance at school and the employment of children. And the expenses necessarily incurred by the state superintendent in such enforcement shall be paid, as audited and allowed by the governor and council.

CHAPTER 4, RULES AND REGULATIONS OF SCHOOL BOARD, CITY OF ROCHESTER.

SEC. 13. Truancy.—Teachers shall report the names and residences of all truants and of those suspected of truancy, together with the names of their parents or guardians, to the truant officer as early as practicable. They shall keep a record of the names of all truants, which shall be open at all times to the inspection of the members of the board and of the truant officer.

SEC. 14. Any child between the age of six and sixteen years, having no regular and lawful occupation, and of sufficient health, neglecting to attend some proper school, or remaining absent, or playing truant therefrom, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not exceeding ten dollars; and in default of payment thereof be committed to the industrial school till the same be paid or he is otherwise discharged; or, instead of such fine, he may be sentenced to said industrial school for a term not exceeding one year.

SEC. 15. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to send a copy of sections 14 and 15 of chapter 94 of the public statutes, and sections 13 and 14 of this chapter of the rules and regulations of the school board to every person who he has reason to believe does not comply with the regulations thereof, and report to the committee on truancy the names of all who still fail to comply therewith; and it shall be the duty of said committee to see to the enforcement of said statute and said rules.
